EVENT PRODUCTION

Over the past twenty years TAO Productions have worked on major events all over the world.

TAO Productions has a well deserved reputation for excellence within the world events industry and TAO's Andy Cotton is regularly called upon to lecture for the UK Cabinet Office Emergency Planning College and has lectured in Poland, Canada, Belfast and The Republic of Ireland in recent years.

The TAO team bring expertise to the group in the form of:

- Event Management
- Production Management
- Risk and Safety Management
- Health & Safety Management
- Major Event Logistics and Planning
- Licensing Consultancy
- Traffic Management Planning
- Security Consultancy
- Event Medical Consultancy
- Fire Risk Management

What sets TAO apart from the crowds? All safety crews are fully qualified (NEBOSH, IOSH or University Diploma); traffic planners are ex-police or highways traffic planners; fire safety is undertaken by current fire fighters who are up to date with legislation and best practice; medical facilities are managed by qualified doctors or paramedics with event medical experience; site co-ordination is undertaken by site managers who understand crowd dynamics, catering requirements and other site factors; production managers are qualified and have years of experience and are supported by some of the best production suppliers in the world and event managers are award winners; TAO Productions only employs highly qualified and experienced crews to promote it's clients requirements of safe, successful and commercially viable events.

TAO actively promotes safety within events with a cost effective solution. Whether it be the management of large audiences; the logistics of major site co-ordination or the use of latest technical equipment, you can trust TAO's reputation for excellence and experience achieved over two decades at the highest levels of the industry.
